Item 4 Advisory Business

BCG Securities was established in 1964. The firm is a subsidiary of Benefit Consultants Group, Inc. (BCG). BCG is controlled 100% by Robert Paglione, the Chief Executive Officer of BCG and BCG Securities, Inc.

A vast majority of our RIA business is conducted through two means. The first is through retirement plan consulting work. Investment Advisor Representatives (IAR's) of the firm help retirement plan sponsors select investment mutual funds for their plan and also conduct ongoing investment monitoring and due diligence.

The second is setting up fee-based investment accounts for individuals seeking long-term growth or income. Approximately 85% of the holdings in these types of accounts are mutual funds or ETF funds. Only in limited circumstances are actual equity stocks used. The firm does permit discretionary accounts on a very limited basis. Over 90% of the transactions made in advisory accounts are executed with client consent. These accounts are held in custody by our clearing firm, Pershing, LLC, or a third party asset manager such as SEI or Haverford Trust.

Accounts are reviewed on a monthly and/or quarterly basis, or even more frequently if necessitated by market fluctuations or a significant change in account value. An IAR conducts all account reviews. Each IAR receives general instructions from the client to take into account the risk tolerance and to diversify the account in a manner that is consistent with the client's investment objectives.

As of December 31, 2016 the firm had approximately 1500 accounts with approximate assets of $335,000,000.

Item 5 Fees and Compensation

For qualified retirement plan accounts, such as a 401(k) plan, the fees charged by the firm are negotiated based upon the number of participants in the plan, the size of the assets in the plan, the type of investment selected, and the educational and monitoring requirements set for the by the plan trustees. Fees may be paid directly by the plan sponsor, or they may be deducted pro-rata from each participant. If an investment selection should pay any revenue share to our firm directly, that revenue will be used to offset the fee. In most instances fees are charged quarterly, in advance, based on the total assets at the end of the previous quarter.

For individual fee-based accounts held in custody at Pershing, the investment advice provided by BCG Securities, Inc. is conducted through consultation with clients in which the IAR and the client discuss the various issues and goals pertinent to the client. Fees are determined primarily through a percentage based on the account asset value at the end of the prior quarter.

The Account Asset Value equals the sum of the net asset value of the fee based account(s), including cash, credit and money market balances. The first full calendar quarter and thereafter, the fee will be based on the account asset value on the last business date of the previous calendar quarter and will become due the following business day. The initial fee payment will be a pro-rated fee for the then current quarter due on the date the account is accepted by BCG Securities, Inc. (the "inception date"), and will be based on the Account Asset Value on that date. BCG Securities will pay a portion of this fee to the clearing agent for sub-advisory, custodial and execution services provided on the fee based account.

The fee does not include postage and handling charges, transfer taxes, exchange fees and any other required fees, or non-brokerage administration fees. Where permitted by law, BCG Securities, Inc. or its clearing agent may also receive a fee for record keeping, sub-accounting, 12b-1 or other shareholder services from some the fee based account products. Investments in mutual funds and ETF's also contain a management fee that is deducted from the investment company to compensate the investment manager(s).

No fee adjustment will be made during any fee period for appreciation or depreciation in account asset value during that period, nor shall any adjustment or refund be made with respect to partial or full withdrawals by the client during such periods, a proportionate fee will be charged on the value added as of the date of the addition. The client's account agreement may be terminated by BCG Securities, Inc. or the client at any time upon written notice.

Fees may be negotiable based upon of the size of the account. A majority of the fee based products offered by BCG Securities, Inc. are provided by our clearing agent, Pershing, LLC. All clients will be provided with a disclosure statement setting forth the applicable fee, and other pertinent information about the product. Clients retain the option to purchase investment products through other brokers or agents that are not affiliated with BCG Securities, Inc.

BCG Securities does not participate in any performance based fees or side-by-side management.

Item 7 Types of Clients

Our primary clients groups are retirement plans such as 401(k) plans, and individual accounts with assets exceeding $50,000.

Item 8 Methods of Analysis, Investment Strategies and Risk of Loss

BCG Securities recognizes that all clients have different risk tolerances, goals, and investment experience. Upon conducting a thorough suitability analysis and determining the proper investment strategy and options for a client, an IAR will recommend one or more investments for a client. We generally use third-party software, such as Morningstar, to conduct research on various mutual funds, ETF's, and equities. We also rely on various services provided by our clearing firm, Pershing, LLC. Investing in securities involves a risk of loss no matter how conservative or aggressive an account.
